Why and what next?

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Renowned speaker and author Simon Sinek is perhaps best known for inspiring people to focus on the concept of WHY.

The founder of The Optimism Company, Sinek's website describes him as an "unshakeable optimist" who believes in a bright future and our ability to build it together – a philosophy rooted in finding your "why" – the deep-seated purpose, cause or belief that inspires you and all you do.

This philosophy was evident throughout our recent graduation of our 43rd class of Leadership Overland Park (LOP). Every year I think this is the best class ever as I'm struck by the talent, passion and commitment of the leaders in our community.

The class elected Trent Boultinghouse as its class speaker. He noted that the commonality in each of the 10 sessions was growth, learning how this community was built and why people come here.

With that perspective, he shared this, "While the city modernizes and grows around us, I believe the story of Overland Park is still the story of this state: yes, our GDP helps raise the economic tide westward, far from our boundaries, but as LOP has taught me – this area has opportunities for any flavor one can desire . . . But we must not take this community we worked so hard to build together for granted; the city's high quality of life we learned about this year requires our continuous action."

Our keynote speaker was Tom Herzog, COO at Netsmart Technologies. Aside from his day job, Tom is a highly engaged civic leader, and as one of the steering committee members of ForwardOP, lives Overland Park's vision of being innovative, forward-thinking and welcoming. While I could listen to Tom talk about leadership all day, he challenged us to not just find our why, but to live our why. In doing that, we will be the difference makers we need in our community.

LOP class hosts fundraiser for Safehome

By Kristin Babcock, Shawnee Mission School District /
2026 Leadership Overland Park class member

The summer of 2026 is shining a global spotlight on our community's passion for competition and the kind and giving spirit of this heartland.

I have high hopes for soccer this summer, but my expectations were already entirely fulfilled this June with generous people, pickleballs, and paddles – all thanks to the Leadership Overland Park Class of 2026!

Our journey began with six months of studying our community. We focused on what brings us together and sustains the high quality of life we enjoy -- from our excellent schools to parks to the new Clock Tower Landing. We also studied the challenges we must address. As a capstone, we were asked to demonstrate accomplishment of one of Leadership Overland Park's stated outcomes: Be Ready to Serve. Our class chose to help support Safehome, an organization dedicated to ending intimate partner abuse.

Through the generous donations of many sponsors, our class raised $26,389.99 at this year's "Pickleball with Purpose" tournament. Between the pickleball, the silent auction, and community generosity, it was an unforgettable night. We focused on what is good in our community; our fundraising efforts will help empower those receiving support from Safehome, so they can experience the best of our community, too.

I'm more of a book nerd than sports savvy. Despite my dreams, nobody would call me Mina Kimes. Still, I'm ready to declare my classmates and everyone who supported our efforts World Champions.

Security Benefit relocates to Aspira Campus

SPONSOR SPOTLIGHT

This spring, Security Benefit relocated its Overland Park office to the Aspira campus to accommodate an expanding workforce now numbered at 80 full-time employees and seven interns.

Security Benefit, established in Topeka in 1892, provides retirement savings solutions for people nationwide and $60 billion in assets under management as of Dec. 31, 2025.

The company opened its Overland Park office in 2017 in Corporate Woods with 10 employees primarily working in accounting, finance and actuarial science.

“Aspira has larger gathering areas for employees and access to several campus amenities, including a fitness center, walkable green spaces, dining options, and campus-wide Wi-Fi,” said Melinda Lebofsky, senior vice president and chief human resources officer. “It’s an excellent fit for our culture.”

In keeping with its commitment to grow its regional workforce, the company joined the Overland Park Chamber of Commerce in 2026.

“Our collaboration with the chamber will enhance our recruitment efforts and expand social engagement, professional development and volunteer opportunities for our team,” Lebofsky said.

Security Benefit was founded by 11 men with $11 who were concerned about the wellbeing of people facing financial hardships. One of the company’s five core values, reflected in the OP workforce, is Community over Self in tribute to the founders’ legacy of philanthropy and teamwork.

Employees have supported nonprofits through SB Cares and United Way activities and Habitat for Humanity’s Women Build Day. Security Benefit’s Charitable Trust has contributed funds to Children’s Mercy Hospital to enhance mental health services for youth and families, Sunflower House for child abuse intervention and prevention services, and Harvesters to support food distribution.

Employees compete in KC Corporate Challenge events each year and a social committee creates fun opportunities for connection during the workday.

In 2024, Ingram’s named the company to its lists recognizing the 100 Top Private Employers and the Best Companies to Work for in the Kansas City region.

“The chamber’s commitment to economic vitality and quality of life has been a great complement to our office’s growth,” Lebofsky said. “We’re excited to explore our partnership’s potential this year and beyond.”

The Chamber’s annual Corporate Sponsors and Partners receive a sponsor spotlight in Business Perspective. To find out more about this sponsorship opportunity, contact Tracey Osborne Oltjen at tosborne@opchamber.org.
